The background of the video frame is a blue-toned image of a neuron. A circular brain scan overlay is visible on the right side of the neuron. The text is overlaid on this image.

Combat Operations

Novel Neuroweapons (Drugs & Bugs...)

In-close pharmaceuticals and organic neurotoxins

- Ultra-low dose/high specify agents for use in targeting diplomatic/ local culture “hearts and minds” scenarios*

High morbidity neuro-microbiologic agents

- Neuro-microbials with high neuro-psychiatric symptom clusters for public panic/public health dis-integrative effects
- Gene-edited microbiologcals with novel morbidity/mortality profiles

Nano-neuroparticulate agents

- High CNS aggregation lead/carbon-silicate nanofibers (network disrupters)*
- Neurovascular hemorrhagic agents (for in-close and population use as “stroke epidemic” induction agents*)

Dr Giordano talks about how he and his colleagues at the medical branches of NATO have been conjuring up some nano-particulate smart dust that can cause STROKE EPIDEMICS, in what he calls a “scatter arrangement”, meaning that they can just douse an area with it and cause a bunch of people to have a stroke.

Here Dr Giordano talks about how he and his colleagues at the medical branches of NATO have been conjuring up some nano-particulate smart dust that can cause STROKE

He describes:

“So what we’re able to do here is infiltrate the brain space with nano-particulate matter that aggregates in situ (on-site) in the brain and there’s one of two things. Either penetrates from the vascular space, gets into the bloodstream, gets in through the nose, through the mucosa, or infiltrates the vascular space and clogs it. What is the result? It’s what’s called a nano-particulate stroke or a hemorrhagic diathesis (fancy word, it’s a predisposition to people having brain bleeds).”

He then explains how an Italian research and tech group has done a ton of work demonstrating how effective it is in animal models, and how you may not incur a stroke, but you will eventually begin to disrupt the processes and properties of the brain, and as a result “engage something as more of a long-wars effects where you now begin to influence the population in increasingly concentric circles of expansion”.

He's describing mind control, behavioral modification, and depopulation. Just so we're all clear...

Robert Kennedy Jr is the only presidential candidate that has touched on these issues of bioweapons and what these insane scientists are conjuring up in laboratories. This is also why Fauci was the darling of the NIH and military for so many years, being the highest paid government official. He was helping run all these programs and was paid accordingly. Guess what else? The Wuhan Institute of Virology was studying and developing these same nano-technologies.
